This Week at Home

I hope you have all had an excellent week at home – from the look of the learning that has been shared, you appear to have been inspired by the theme of VE Day in this anniversary year. It really is very moving to see the levels of engagement and effort, from children across the school, as they continue their home-learning journey. I am hugely grateful to all the families for their continued tenacity and support – whatever the struggles, it's clear that you are doing an amazing job. I am equally grateful to all of our staff for their effort, encouragement, engagement and effervescence (love a bit of alliteration) – I know that they very much appreciate all the positive feedback they are receiving from children and families. Thanks to Mrs Elmore for her efforts in putting the activities for this week together. I'll leave you with a small selection of work from the week.
